UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE WOULD SUFFER UNDER WARRANT PLAN

LOS ANGELES. — Members of the California Employment Commission meeting here today adopted a resolution for transmission to Governor Culbert L. Olson pointing out the "serious effects" adoption of the California State Retirement Life Payment Act, popularly known as "Ham and Eggs" would have on unemployment insurance.

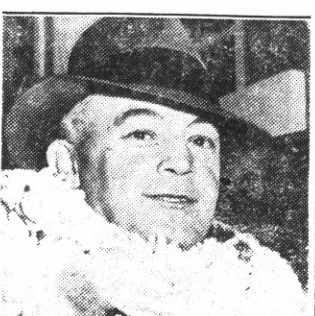

The resolution said that adopting the Life Payment Act would render California's system of unemployment insurance unworkable.

Acting on an opinion of Attorney General Earl Warren, which said contributions to the unemployment fund could be paid in so-called "warrant" money, the Commission asserted employees throughout the state now covered by unemployment insurance would be "deprived of future benefits" if the amendment is adopted.

Following the lodge meeting, games were played, and a social occasion gave recognition to members whose birthday anniversaries fall during the month of October.

FORUM SPEAKER SEES RUSSIA SEEKING EUROPE GAINS

Discussing "The Political Crisis in Europe," Dr. Carl Landauer, speaking at the Shakespeare Club Tuesday night in the third meeting of the lecture-forum series indicated he suspects that Russia's policy in the current European situation is to benefit Russia.

Dr. Landauer led his hearers to understand that in his opinion, Russia's assistance or concessions to one side or the other in the present war will be governed exclusively by the question of whether it appears advantageous to the Soviet.

His talk was the third in the lecture-forum series which will conclude November 14th with Dr. Tully Knoles speaking on the subject, "A Realist Looks At Peace."

Water Hearing Scheduled

Georgetown Ditch Inquiry
To Be Resumed Nov. 20
At County Courthouse

The series of hearings before the state Railroad Commission relative to the Georgetown Divide Water Company, Ltd., will be resumed on November 20th at ten o'clock in the morning at the courthouse in Placerville before Commissioner Baker.

This is according to an announcement received by parties interested in the matter from H. G. Mathewson, secretary of the commission, dated at San Francisco on October 24th.

The matters to be taken up will be the complaint brought against the ditch company by the Georgetown Water Users Association, and also the manner of the Railroad Commission's own inquiry into the affairs of the district.

This is the third in the series of hearings on the matter, which was instituted last Spring.

Jimmie Frazier, of San Jose, stopped over in the county seat for a brief visit with friends on a return hunting trip into Nevada.

Keeping Venison? Here's The Law:

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—The State Fish and Game Commission today announced procedure by which deer meat may be kept after close of the hunting season in accordance with a law passed by the last legislature.

The meat must be marked by an employee of the Division of Fish and Game and must be available at all times for inspection. A fee of $1 will be charged for the marking.

Proof must be furnished that the deer was legally taken during the open season. Permits will be issued only for the possession of fresh deer meat, and none will be granted for canned or dried.

FACTORIES BAN WARRANTS

Must Pay Cash For Raw
Materials And Wages,
Says Association Head

SAN FRANCISCO. — Completing a triple play which opponents of the Ham and Eggs plan believe will count heavily when the score is compiled on November 7, the California Manufacturers Association today began mailing out notices that its members would not accept the 30-Thursday warrants. The first play was started a month ago when the retailers mailed notices to customers that warrants would not be accepted. Later the wholesalers made it a double play with a notice to the retailers that the funny money would be no good with them. Today's action of the manufacturers completed the triple, and the warrants are "out" with virtually all trade channels.

"We will not accept these 'Ham and Eggs' warrants," the manufacturers' notices stated. "All purchases are payable only in lawful money of the United States. Our decision is necessary because we must pay cash for materials which we purchase and because we wish to continue to pay our employees' wages in lawful money of the U. S."

O. H. Fischer, president of the association, declared that it is foolhardy for Ham and Eggs to believe that California would do over four times the amount of business in 1940 with warrants that it did in the boom year of 1929 with cash, especially since people do not have to take warrants.

"Your grocer and other merchants will have to pay cash for what they buy," said Mr. Fischer, "and you will be asked for cash for what you buy. Where will you get the cash?"

The California Manufacturers Association is statewide, and represents virtually every type of industry operating within the state.

ANITA BALDWIN DIED TODAY

Daughter Of Colorful
Mining And Turf Figure
Was 65 Years Of Age

ARCADIA. (UP)—Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin, daughter of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, colorful mining and turf figure of the old west, died early today of a heart attack.

Mrs. Baldwin was 65 years of age. She died in her palatial home on the big Rancho Santa Anita, inherited from her father along with his millions. Part of the rancho she sold for the famous Santa Anita Park racetrack.

For some years Mrs. Baldwin had been suffering from a heart ailment. At her bedside when she died were her son, Baldwin M. Baldwin, and daughter, Mrs. Dexter Baldwin Winters Jones.

Mrs. Baldwin was born in San Francisco, the only daughter of the late "Lucky" and his third wife, Jane Virginia Dexter. She was the belle of the bay area in her youth, but moved with the family to Arcadia when the Baldwin Hotel was destroyed by fire in 1898.

Shingle Knife Suspect Held

Felony Charge To Be Filed, Say Officials;
Hint Prior Assaults

Bart Vandergrift, Shingle miner, is held at the county jail and will be charged with a felonious assault, District Attorney Henry S. Lyon said Wednesday, as the result of the alleged knifing Sunday of Howard Barnett, also a miner in the vicinity.

Barnett received a wound in the upper part of his back and was able to go home following emergency treatment.

Sheriff George M. Smith reports that as far as he has been able to determine in his investigation, there was no provocation for the assault for which Vandergrift is held.

The sheriff also stated that he has, in months past, received complaints of other such assaults but had not been able to ferret out either victim or the suspected assailant. However, he has definitely connected Vandergrift, he said, with a disturbance at an El Dorado tavern and is continuing his investigation.

Sheriff Smith also said that in his investigation of the Shingle Springs disturbance it was necessary for him to make four trips to Shingle Springs before he was able to arrest the suspect, this being in a large measure made necessary by the reluctance of proprietors of the establishment, the Red Diamond Cafe, to co-operate with the officials in their investigation.

This phase of the situation has been called to the attention of Board of Equalization officials operating under the alcoholic beverage control act, he said.

STATE RIGHT-OF-WAY AGENT UNDER FIRE

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—Adolph N. Sutro, right-of-way agent for the Department of Public Works today faced dismissal charges filed with the personnel board alleging improper political activity.

The charges, filed by Frank W. Clark, director of the department, date back to 1935, accusing him of using state cars and gasoline credit cards for political activity and other "unimical to public service."

Sutro, grandson of former San Francisco Mayor Adolf Sutro, has been employed by the state since 1931 and receives a salary of $320 a month. The charges must be answered within 10 days.

SUMMIT ROAD BID ASKED

Contract For Clearing
In Phillips Section
May Be Let Soon

The Public Roads Administration is now advertising for bids covering the re-alignment, grading and surfacing of 3.537 miles of the highway above and below Phillips on U. S. route 50, according to information received from Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith today.

A circular has been received at the Eldorado Forest headquarters setting forth various details of the job, which involves considerable clearing, excavating, grading, gravel and asphalt surfacing, etc.

Bids will open at 2:00 p. m. on November 14 in San Francisco. Details are lacking as to when the work is to start.

Completion of this link will eliminate one of the most troublesome "bad spots" between Placerville and Meyers, Smith stated, and will connect with the new stretch of re-aligned highway which goes over the summit a short distance south of the present route.

RUSSELL WILSON TURNS ATTENTION TO KELSEY MINE

Two shifts of men are employed in the exploration and development of the Golden Oak Mine, near the old Louisville Store north of Kelsey, says a Sacramento paper.

Russell J. Wilson, manager-owner, this week said drifting and cross cutting is carried on from a fifty two foot two compartment shaft. Drifting will be done on the vein, which is showing fair values.

Some of the equipment from the Spanish Oak Mine, about a mile from the Golden Oak, is being used on the new property. This equipment formerly was used in the exploration of a prospect at Spanish Flat, east of the present workings.

A lease was taken on about 160 acres of the Golden Oak from William Poor in September, last.

Several attempts have been made to operate the property in the past, but in all cases water has proved a handicap. Previous to the taking over of the property by Wilson it was worked by Gilbert Chisholm and some ore was taken out and milled at the Gold Company's mill on the Veerkamp Ranch at Garden Valley.

Some years ago Poor worked the property and took out a number of pockets.

Wilson said ore from the exploration work will be trucked to the Black Oak mill in Garden Valley and test runs made.

He recently announced the pulling of the pumps from below the 400 foot level at the Black Oak mine in Garden Valley and indicated the property would be shut down completely in about two months.

The operator is declared to have taken out a fortune from the mine in the last five years. Confessions reputedly made by some of the score of men arrested a year ago as high-grading suspects indicated that more than $200,000 in high-grade ore had been stolen in less than a year.

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
U. P. Foreign News Editor

Germany emphasized Nazi friendship for the Americas today as the United States senate neared a vote on the neutrality act revisions.

In Berlin, it was disclosed that the German government is negotiating with Soviet Russia regarding the American freighter City of Flint, captured as a prize by a German warship in the Atlantic but taken to the Soviet's Kola Bay because of the allied North Sea blockade.

The United States had indicated that a request would be made to Russia for release of the freighter because it was in a neutral port and developments indicated that the Nazis would not oppose such action.

A similarly friendly position had been taken by Nazi foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop in his speech at Danzig, when he charged the British government with deliberately fomenting war and asserted

Governor Had Hoped That
"Economies" Might Make
Pay Increases Possible

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—Regularly scheduled salary increases for 14,000 state employees paid from self supporting agencies and departments have gone into effect but no funds are available to raise the salaries of 10,000 employees paid from the general fund, the state department of finances revealed today.

The legislature cut items for salary increases from Gov. Culbert L. Olson's 1939-41 budget, but the Governor had hoped to make economies in other expenditures sufficient to meet the raises, which are provided for in the civil service act.

Superintendent of accounts Fred Links said there may be some increases in general fund departments after the first of the year if department heads can show they will have sufficient money to last the remainder of the biennium.

The governor has indicated that he will ask the impending special legislative session to pass a deficiency bill providing for the higher pay.

ACQUITTAL WON TUESDAY ON ASSAULT CASE IN JUSTICE COURT

Jesse Davis, of Brewsterville Tavern, was acquitted Tuesday in a trial before Justice of the Peace T. P. Lewis on charges that he had assaulted Kenneth Crews.

The evidence in the case showed that Davis had struck Crews after Crews had paid a second visit to his place of business. It seemed that Crews had called at the place earlier in the day and had been asked to leave and that he did so but returned later "looking for trouble" and found it.

Deputy District Attorney Robert E. Roberts represented the People and Hale Day was counsel for the defendant.

"WHY BUSINESS AGAINST HAM AND EGGS"

If Ham and Eggs would greatly increase business, as the proponents proclaim, then either the business men are plain dumb or they do not believe it will increase business. Certainly business men would vote for anything they thought would increase business but no business man of my standing is for Ham and Eggs. It is true a few vacillating business men will tell Ham and Eggs people, who are threatening to boycott them, that they will take the warrants if they can pass them on. They know, of course, they cannot pass them on and so will not have to take them.

It would seem the fact that business men are opposed to Ham and Eggs should be evidence to all thinking people that they realize the great damage Ham and Eggs would do to business as a whole.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

ATLANTA, Ga., (UP)—Notes on southern football, where the game is hotter than the inside of a baked yam and tougher than a field hand full of corn whiskey.

With a record of 102 victories and only 12 defeats, Major Boy Neyland of Tennessee is getting so hard to beat that some of his rival coaches are almost hoping for American participation in the war. They figure that he would be called up for active duty, and that while war is hell, it isn't any worse than playing the Major's teams on Saturday.

Navy had better have all decks cleared for action and every man at his battle station when Clemson reaches Annapolis on Saturday, because the Tigers are a red hot team. In one Banks McPadden they have one of the great backs of the country—a one-legged traveler who gained 369 yards last year, completed 10 of 20 passes for 169 yards without an interception, and had a kicking average of 40 yards.

Ken Kavanaugh, 190-pound L. S. U. end, has scored 42 points to take the lead in southeastern conference scoring. He has snagged five touchdowns passes from Leo Bird, sophomore, and intercepted two enemy passes for scores—Coach W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech, member of the national football rules committee, will urge that august body to restore the rule making a punt a free ball, saying that it would be a great help to the offense and add to the spectacular gaiety of the game. Alexander does not believe the rules committee will heed his suggestion, however.

There are 32 Pennsylvania players operating in the south-eastern conference, and at Duke, North Carolina State, and North Carolina

Pennsylvania, you know, is to the production of football players what the Kimberly mines are to diamonds—the coaches in the conference, and those at the three North Carolina schools really have set their trap lines for players over a far-flung area. The rosters of the teams list men from 32 states and the Canal Zone. The next thing you know they'll be tapping Ellis Island for broad-shouldered immigrants.

New York City is likely to get a look at its first bare-footed kicker when Georgia takes on N. Y. U. in the Polo Grounds this week. Jimmy Fordham, Georgia fullback, learned to kick minus shoes at Graymount-Summit, the Eton and Harrow of South Georgia, and he is good for 50 yards a whack. All southern coaches are eying young Bobby Gifers of Kingsport, Tennessee, a high school boy whose record tops that of Bill De Correvont. Kentucky has the inside track on his services, despite the fact that he has a brother playing end for Tennessee this year.

Homer Hazel, Rutgers all-American back of some years ago, has two sons on the University of Mississippi varsity. But the best of the brother acts in football is at Duke where George and Wesley McAfee are running wild, especially George. Ozzie Solem, Syracuse coach, said after the game with Duke last Saturday that it was impossible to construct a defense capable of checking George.

Tulane's 225-pound tackle, Bill Kirchman, has been timed in 0:22.5 for the 220-yard dash—and he is second string. If you want to see southern hospitality at its fried

JOE LOUIS' EXHIBITION TOUR TRIMMED AND WISEACRES SUSPECT END OF HIS REIGN IS APPROACHING

NEW YORK, (UP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs' perturbation over heavy-weight champion Joe Louis' proposed exhibition tour stimulates the belief in Cauliflower Canyon that the first top-flight heavy who comes along will wrest the title from the "Brown Bomber."

Louis was tentatively slated to give exhibitions in nine American cities during October and November, but Jacobs has called the whole thing off—with the exception of a four-rounder at Flint, Mich., on Oct. 27, and another four-rounder at Richmond, Ind., on Oct. 30.

Jacobs cancelled the tour because some promoters—like the one at St. Louis—were matching the bomber with a fair third-rate opponent and advertising the scrap as for the world title.

John L. Sullivan may have gone barn-storming about the country, offering to knock out any so-and-so in the house, but not Joe Louis, who stuns a bit too easily when walloped on the head. Promoter Jacobs is taking no chances with his precious bit of boxing bric-a-brac, who already earned for Louis and managers more than $1,500,000 under Jacobs' gonfalon.

"GOLD BOWL" GRID GAME TURKEY DAY THRILL FOR ALASKANS

JUNEAU, Alaska (UP)—A "Gold Bowl" football game has been added to the ranks of super-super attractions in this land of ice and snow.

Not since 1916 have the sourdoughs had a chance to cheer a galloping halfback, but promoter Jim O'Neil announced today he had lined up a 1939 schedule of one charity game in the "Gold Bowl" here Thanksgiving day. Proceeds will go to the Alaska Tuberculosis Association.

The teams will be the Baranof Bears and the Sourdough Nuggets, composed of former college and sand-lot players. University of Washington officials in Seattle have donated 40 used sets of equipment.

The examination is being given to fill vacancies with the Division of Highways in the operation of drawbridges on the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and San Francisco Bay tributaries," states Mr. Kroeger.

"Applicants for this job," adds Mr. Kroeger, "must have education equal to that represented by the completion of the ninth grade and at least one year of experience in the operation and maintenance of movable span bridges or in the operation of traveling cranes."

"LADY OF THE TROPICS" CLOSES TONIGHT AT EMPIRE

"Lady of the Tropics" starring Robert Taylor and Hedy Lamarr, which opened Tuesday night on the Empire screen, will have its final first-run local showing tonight.

Setting for the picture is in Indo-China, and the story is one done by Ben Hecht, especially for the Lamarr-Taylor starring combination.

Taylor appears as a young American who, visiting Indo-China, falls in love and marries a beautiful half caste who seeks to escape from the tropics to America. Even after marriage, she is prevented from escape by the influence of a wealthy native who is in love with her. To save her young husband, who resolves to kill his enemy, she liberates him by sacrificing her own life.

Presented in lavish and colorful settings of the mysterious Far East, "Lady of the Tropics" has a cast that includes Joseph Schildkraut, Gloria Franklin, Ernest Cossart, Mary Taylor, Charles Trowbridge, and more than a score more important players. Sam Zimbalist is the producer and Jack Conway directed.

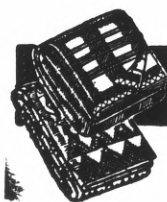

DECLINE IN RAINFALL IS FORECAST FOR SEASON

LA JOLLA, (UP)—A somewhat dry 1939-40 season for California was indicated today in a forecast issued by the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

There will be less rain than the season just ended, it was predicted by George F. McEwen, professor of physical oceanography.

Indications are based upon a study of the 25-year and 5 year cycles of rainfall throughout the state, and the varying temperatures of the sea off the coast.

Stewart Says— Ludlow Law May Put Quietus on Alien Agitators

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

"THERE IS a great unassimilated alien mass in the United States," says Congressman Louis Ludlow, an Indiana Democrat. "Many of these foreign sojourners in our midst," he adds, "represent alien philosophies and are engaged in subversive activities."

So the Hoosier legislator has proposed a law, allowing aliens in this country a year within which each of them must apply for American citizenship or "face deportation."

He's to "face" deportation, mind you. It isn't to be provided that he's to be deported merely because he's been here more than a year without asking for naturalization—not if he's an uninterfering, untroublesome alien, simply in the United States on legitimate business or as a well-behaved visitor. For all Congressman Ludlow cares, he can stay on indefinitely as a foreigner, provided he keeps out of our domestic politics. But if he wants a voice in our governmental affairs, the congressman holds that he ought to become one of us officially and genuinely—or be shipped back where he came from.

Now, Louis Ludlow is no "balt-er." He's a very high-grade liberal, but he isn't a crank. I've known him for years. He originally was a newspaperman. As an Indianapolis telegraph editor, I handled his Washington copy away back in the early 1900's. I've been associated with him as a press galleryite in the capitol. He's no conservative, certainly, but neither is he the type of lawmaker who looks under his bed nightly to make sure that a Communist or a Nazi isn't hiding there. What he says is worth listening to.

Therefore, I incline to sympathize with folk who complain of the activities of foreign set-ups here in the U. S. A.

They're different from such an outfit as our erstwhile Ku Klux. Disapprove however much you might of the Klan, you had to admit that intrinsically it was American. However, you can't but recognize that Communist cells, Nazi bands and Fascist groups are importations, and it's hard not to suspect that they're encouraged from over the water.

I don't quite see what the Dies committee, for instance, is going to do to an American who chooses to affiliate himself with one of these organizations, any more than a Kluxer could be punished simply AS a Kluxer. And I don't see what's to be done as to a German-American of several generations standing if he joins, say, a bund. You can say he's disloyal if his bunch is financed from abroad, but that's about all. A naturalized American of foreign birth doubtless is open to the charge of having been naturalized in bad faith if he hooks up with an anti-democratic aggregation; perhaps his citizenship can be revoked and he can be banished.

But a foreigner who isn't even naturalized?—who's just sent here to make trouble?—he's an obvious damned nuisance. He's the chap whom Louis Ludlow is on the trail of.

Russia Gains Navy Help

that the French people were opposed to the conflict. Ribbentrop had emphasized that a quarrel between the United States and Germany was "impossible."

Both British and French reaction to the foreign minister's speech was that it was a crude and futile attempt to cause dissent in allied ranks, but British Royal Air Force planes were reported to have taken a more direct method of showing disapproval by making reconnaissance raids deep into Germany during the speech. Many thousands of persons were reported by British sources to have stopped listening to the foreign minister's radio address to run for the air raid shelters.

The British fliers penetrated more deeply than before in Germany, flying over the Krupp armament plant at Magdeburg.

Ribbentrop's speech, nevertheless, appeared to have ended any immediate possibility of a new peace move in Europe. Germany was reported in London to be devoting all energies toward assuring a steady supply of raw materials from Soviet Russia and to have agreed to help build up the Soviet navy in return.

Such an agreement, providing Russia with needed mechanical aid, would be a part of the price being paid by Adolf Hitler for friendship with Moscow as his only hope.

But it also would hold the prospect of Soviet supremacy in the Baltic sea, which was once considered by Nazis as a German lake but whose shores are now being drawn under Soviet protection.

With the three Baltic states already signed up and Red troops occupying Estonia at the German minority returns home, the Soviets' biggest trouble at the moment continued to center around negotiations with Finland.

The Finnish delegation returned to Helsinki with written demands by the Soviets, presumably for island bases in the Gulf of Finland and a share in control of the Aaland Isles. It was believed in both Moscow and Helsinki that these demands offered a basis for an agreement, but there was as yet no certainty that all danger of a break had passed.

PROSPECTIVE HOME-BUILDERS SHOULD VOTE "NO" ON 30-WARRANT PLAN TO PROTECT SELVES, ED. KAY WARNS

SACRAMENTO — Any person looking toward building a home for his family can protect himself only by voting "NO" on Proposition No. 1 at the special election ballot on November 7.

This is the warning issued today by Ed. J. Kay, former state advisor to assessors and member of the Veterans' Citizens Committee Against 30-Thursdays.

"There are a score of dangerous provisions contained in Proposition No. 1, only one of which is the 3 per cent gross income tax which would be levied against every business enterprise in the State of California," Kay said.

"I am sure that thinking citizens will vote against this constitutional amendment if for no other reason than to guarantee the defeat of such a vicious proposal as this gross income tax."

"I have used the example of the home-owner advisedly, inasmuch as it is the desire of all of us to provide a home for our loved ones. Yet the 'Ham and Eggs' amendment would make the realization of this hope more impossible than ever before."

"Take lumber, for instance," Kay explained. "By the time a three per cent gross income tax is paid at the mill, by the wholesaler, retailer and builder, the price has been increased so much as to be prohibitive to the eventual consumer. And this is in addition to all the other heavy taxes that would be necessary under this visionary and unworkable plan. Any such pyramiding tax is necessarily ruinous."

In closing, Kay urged that every citizen work for his future home and the stability of his state by voting "NO" on Proposition No. 1 at the special election next November 7.

SLATE MOUNTAIN PROPERTY MAY INSTALL 20-TON BALL MILL

A small crew of men is at work in the construction of mill buildings on the Bear Track Mine, located on Slate Mountain, twenty miles northeast of Placerville. Preparations are being made for the installation of a twenty ton ball mill, says a Sacramento paper.

The property, formerly operated by the Old California Mining Co., last was worked about the turn of the century.

The operators, C. N. Bagwell, N. D. Larson and P. F. Shaw, said the vein averages about two feet six inches in width. The 320 acre property recently was purchased from Ernest Fields and Howard Cullers.

Air compressors, the necessary blacksmith and machine shop equipment and the mill were expected to be in place at the mine this week.

Present development is a 300 foot tunnel. Exploration and development work to be carried on will include sinking of shafts and drifting and cross-cutting in the tunnel.

TODAY'S PROFILE

BY UNITED PRESS

Sam Bredon, millionaire automobile distributor, was a person of influence and authority in his adopted city of St. Louis, for years but did not acquire a national reputation until he became interested in major league baseball.

A fan all his life, Bredon entered baseball in a commercial way in 1917 when a group of St. Louis business men bought the stock of the St. Louis Cardinals—a baseball club destined to win fame from coast to coast as the "Gas House Gang."

The team didn't prosper and stockholders lost interest. Bredon, share by share, picked up the stock until he owned 51 per cent. Soon he was elected president of the club and still holds that position. His stock-buying campaign continued, however, until today Bredon owns approximately 80 per cent of the stock.

An athlete looking man, weighing about 175 pounds, five feet nine inches tall, Bredon trains as strenuously as his ball players. Although past 60, he rides half-trained horses and swims, plays golf and stays as much as possible on his 200-acre farm near St. Louis.

Bredon's rise to wealth is in the Horatio Alger tradition. A native of New York, Bredon came to St. Louis in 1902 and went to work in a garage, greasing and repairing cars. He slept on a cot in the rear of the garage.

In 1903, with the late Marion Lambert, Bredon organized the Western Automobile Co. but in later years, he devoted most of his business talent to his baseball empire.

Under Bredon the Cardinals prospered, winning the league championship in 1926, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1934.

A genial host, he had a flare for singing old-time songs such as "Judy O'Grady," and was an excellent conversationalist. In public appearances, however, he has a tendency to become flustered.

Proud of his Scotch ancestry, Bredon is proud of his reputation as a forthright "straight shooter," does not care for gambling games or races but is and always has been willing to risk everything on his business judgment. If he believed in a friend's ability, his backing wasn't difficult to obtain. In such cases he would lend money without security, taking a share in the subsequent profits—and many such enterprises proved highly profitable.

His blue eyes seem to turn to chunks of dry ice when he thinks someone is trying to trick him. He has determination and courage and, friends say, nobody ever bluffed him, physically or financially.

Endurance Fliers Near New Record Mark

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Wes Carrol and Clyde Scheiper kept their tiny seaplane aloft over Rosamond dry lake today, their objective of 31 days in the air drawing nearer with each succeeding revolution of their motor.

At 9 a. m. PST, the pair of Long Beach pilots had been credited officially with 600 hours in the air. From then until 3 p. m. Thursday they will be soaring down the home stretch toward the world's endurance record set in 1935 by the Key brothers at Meridian, Miss.

line Simon, Mrs. Camilla Cello, who served two terms; and Mrs. Chas. Hand. Mrs. L. J. Dormody, a past president, was unable to be present.

New members who were introduced included Mrs. John B. Hughes, of Camino; Mrs. Robert Weidman, Mrs. Kenneth Juster, Mrs. J. H. Wilson, Mrs. T. S. Marlor and Mrs. D. W. LeBourveau.

The entertainment program included two numbers by the club choral, "Indian Cradle Song" and "Come To The Fair," and Mrs. Grace Steen sang "Poor Man's Garden" and "God Bless America." The audience joined in the chorus of this last number.

Although Mrs. George and Mrs. Haslam gave short talks, the guest speaker of the day was Mrs. Richards, state president, who took as her subject, "Are You Willing?"

She recalled her election as northern district president at a meeting held in the Placerville Shakespeare Club House ten years ago and of her hopes at that time that she might be fortunate enough to be state president some day; and now, ten years later, she had returned to Placerville as the state president.

Mrs. Richards reviewed the work of the women's clubs throughout the state and told of her work in children's hospitals and in veterans' hospitals and of the numerous caravans to Treasure Island which have been arranged by women's clubs for the benefit of these hospital patients, and of the other work which has been done in the interest of spreading cheer and encouragement among the stricken.

Luncheon tables were decorated with enormous bunches of grapes in three colors, yellow, squashes, pine boughs and yellow berries, all of which were displayed in artistic arrangement by the decorations committee with Mrs. Edith Hodapp, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Roy Strum, Mrs. C. W. Pearson, Mrs. E. Ogden Hook, Mrs. Dr. T. E. Jones, Mrs. F. A. Peterson, Mrs. George Luse, Mrs. E. R. Brander, Mrs. John Purcell and Mrs. William Albright.

In the schedule of coming events, the choral will have a dessert bridge party at the clubhouse at one o'clock Tuesday, October 31 and that same evening there will be a whist party at the clubhouse.

Mrs. Charles Schaeppi will preside at the meeting of the literary section on November 14th and a guest speaker in coming from Sacramento to speak on the Bible.

TULIPS THROUGH ZONE COLUMBUS, S. C. (UP)—S. J. Ashby, gardener of the statehouse lawn on capitol hill, is over his case of jitters caused by the European war. He has received word that his order of 3,000 tulip bulbs has arrived safely in New York from Holland. In Ashby's opinion, the bulbs would have been a fit prize for any submarine.

Snow reports to the forest headquarters tod of 14 inches on the summit; Eighteen inches at Caldor Ranger Station at Lumbryard, on the Alpine highway; seven inches at Caldor.

The Pacific Gas & Electric Company reported four inches at Camp Five, approximately fifteen miles east of Placerville, and twelve inches at Twin Lakes with a temperature there on Wednesday morning of six degrees above zero.

BERLINGER COMES BACK

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—Barney Berlinger, former decathlon champion from the University of Pennsylvania, is earning new athletic honors. The brawny right arm that heaved the shot, discus and javelin recently won the state Fish and Game Association's plug casting title with a record of 181 feet, 1-3 inch.

Baldwin, and when this marriage was annulled, wed Hull McClaughery, a young San Francisco lawyer, who was the father of her two children. Upon divorcing him, she resumed her maiden name of Baldwin.

Anita Baldwin's death removed the last direct link to the days of her famed father, and his fabulous mines and horses. Baldwin won his nickname in the early mining days, principally when he made $2,500,000 on a single plunge in Ophir mining stock during the Comstock bonanza boom.

He had come across the plains from Racine, Wis., in 1853 with a wagon load of brandy and another filled with tobacco and tea. The brandy he sold to the Mormons in Salt Lake City for $16 a gallon; the tobacco he sold for $1 a plug.

He later acquired a string of blooded horses in Kentucky, bought 8500 acres of oak-dotted pasture land between Pasadena and Arca in 1875, and added to it for his estates, stables and breeding farm until he was the lord of $4,000 acres stretching out over the San Gabriel valley.

Four famous horses owned by "Lucky" won the American Derby at Chicago, the classic race of the day. They were Volante, Silver Cloud, Emperor of Norfolk, and Rey El Santa Anita. When they died, Baldwin buried them on the Rancho, a stone's throw from the present Santa Anita racetrack.

When he died in 1909, Baldwin left about $10,000,000 each to Anita and to her eldest daughter, Clara Baldwin Stocker, now dead.

Anita inherited her father's love of horses and flair for spectacular generosity. When she left a $35,000 diamond ring in a service station washroom at Gila Bend, Ariz., and the attendant returned it to her, she rewarded him with $5,000.

For many years she kept the old Santa Anita homestead intact and finally broke it up to permit erection of the palatial Santa Anita park racetrack because it carried on the old Baldwin turf tradition.

Her death will take some of the color from the annual $10,000 Santa Anita Handicap. She always crowned the winner.

She is reported to have left a huge estate to her children. In 1932 she was quoted as saying that the depression had reduced her wealth from about $35,000,000 to $15,000,000. Since then the racetrack and subdividing of the old Rancho have proved profitable.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., (UP)—It's far safer to go for an automobile ride than stay at home in Alabama's capital city. Statistics of the state department of health disclose that there were 21 deaths caused by home accidents in Montgomery last year, as against 12 ascribed to motor vehicle accidents.
